

Small Communication Book for Common Twi

Ghana-Korea-Germany
Church Partnership Youth Encounter

2014

Brothers and sisters, what should we say then? When you come together, every one of you brings something. You bring a hymn or a teaching or a word from God. You bring a message in another language or explain what was said. All of those things must be done to make the church strong.

1 Pronunciation Help

Twi belongs to the Akan language family and consists of strong dialects like Asante, Akuapem, Fante and more. The book gives just small insights of a common Twi and you will find more local varieties of pronunciation and words. Depending on the way to count there are around 60 languages in Ghana, but the Twi group is the biggest, especially in the south. The language also spread to Suriname, Jamaica and other places around South America through the slave trade. The alphabet and some of the first publications in Twi come from German missionaries and thus most vowels and consonants are not too different from German pronunciation. But it's not easy like that and you'll need to practise not only the diphthongs but also tones.

5 Tenses and Grammar

Present tense is composed by putting subject and predicate together. While here the stem form of the verb is used many words in Twi are changed when used in different tense and nouns too change when used in plural form.

Enne medi Fufuo. Today I eat Fufu.

Mete ha. I stay here. Note: te has several meanings.

Menom nsuo. I drink water.

Abena (ɔ)te Twi. Abena speaks Twi.
Abena-feel Twi.

Present progressive is composed by adding a -re- between subject and predicate. When speaking this just becomes a vowel lengthening. Third person singular is an exception if it follows a name.

Mereba. (Meeba.) I'm coming/on my way.
I-now-come.

Meredi Fufuo. (Meedi Fufuo.) I'm eating Fufu.
I-now-eat Fufu.

5 Tenses and Grammar

Felix εεsua Twi. (Not: Felix ɔɔsua.) Felix is learning Twi.
Felix he-now-learn Twi.

Seesei worekɔ he? (Wookɔ he?) Where are you going now?
Now you-now-go where?

Merekɔ fie. (Meekɔ fie.) I am going home.
I-now-go house.

Merenom nsuo. (Meenom nsuo.) I am drinking water.
I-now-drink water.

Yerekɔ nom koko. (Yεekɔ nom koko.) We go to eat mais porrage.
We-now-go drink porrage.

ɔreyε deen? (ɔɔyε deen?) What is he doing?
He-now-do what?

Future tense is composed by adding a -bε- between subject and predicate. When speaking this can also just change e to ε.

Mebεda. (Mεda.) I will sleep.

ɔkyena ɔbεtɔ mpaboa. Tomorrow he'll buy shoes.

Wobεdi deen? You'll eat what?

ɔkyena akyi Kwame bεkɔ Togo. The day after tomorrow Kwame will go to Togo.

Past tense is formed by prolonging the vowel of the predicate (or just telling the time while using present tense).

Mesua Fanti. I have learned Fanti.

Ennora anwummerɛ medii Ampɛsi. Yesterday evening
I ate Ampesi.

Mete Germany mfiɛ miɛnsa nie. I lived in Germany three years ago.
I-stay Germany year three ago.

Imperative forms of verbs do sometimes change (like ka to kassa). An example is ba which becomes bra, while others like ko remain unchanged.

Mepa wo kyɛw, bra, wei. Please come, ok? I-Beg you mercy, come, ok?

Kɔ fa ntoosi ma me. Go bring the tomato for me.

Gye sika. Take the money/change.

Menka Twi paa. Enti kassa brofo ma me. I don't speak
Twi well. So speak English for me.

5 Tenses and Grammar

Negotiation of verbs are made by prepending n to them in most cases. But the consonant is changed if it starts with d like da which becomes nnā or b like bɔ which becomes mmɔ.

Wontɔ nsuo bio? You don't buy water again?
You-not-buy water again?

Mentɔn no. I don't sell this.
I-not-sell this?

Yenhyia seesei. We don't meet now.

Memmrɛ... I am not tired... (from: abrɛ)

Monnom bia? You don't drink beer?

Adɛn Kwaku nni gyeene? Why does Kwaku not eat onion?
Why Kwaku not-eat onion?

Yɛnfrɛ me ɔburoni, me din de Lisa. We don't call me ɔburoni/european, my name is Lisa.
We-not-call I ɔburoni, I name given(?) Lisa.

Woboa! - Daabi, memmoa. You lie! - No, I don't lie.

Menni sika. I don't have money. (from: wɔ)

Menyɛ Amɛrikani. I'm not an American.

6 Useful Words and Phrases

Sometimes you get a question on the street as a greeting. E.g. Woreko he? (Where are you going?) It might be that no answer is expected, but it's always ok to give it short and quick: Meko krum. (I go to town.) - Then you might often hear: Ko bra. (Go come.) And you can also use Me ko ba. (I go come.) when you leave.
